APPROVAL OF CHANGE IN NAME OF COMPANY TO VOX TELECOM LIMITED

The directors are pleased to advise that shareholders approved the resolution to change the name of DataPro Group Limited to Vox Telecom Limited in order to reflect the intention of the company to position itself as an alternative telecommunications provider with its broader service offering of voice and data services. This is consistent with the transformation of the company over the last 12 months from a traditional ISP to a telecommunications service provider offering a portfolio of voice and data services to consumers and corporate customers.

The new Vox Telecom brand will be launched on June 29, 2007. The company today provides telecommunications products and services to over 60 000 consumers through the @lantic brand, to over 7 500 businesses through the corporate ISP business, namely DataPro and to over 60% of the top 200 listed companies through the Orion Telecom brand.

The special resolution will be lodged with CIPRO to change the name from "DataPro Group Limited" to "Vox Telecom Limited". For a period of not less than one year, Vox Telecom will reflect the former name "DataPro Group Limited" on all documents of title in brackets beneath the new name of "Vox Telecom Limited".

In terms of the Listings Requirements, approval was granted by the JSE for the change of name and for the abbreviated name "Vox Telecom" to be used with the share code "VOX" and the ISIN will be changed to ZAE000097234.
